

Case Study

A specialist gym and spa design company who offers installation and maintenance services, they have a long history of creating high-end health, fitness and leisure solutions.

Background

Motive8 design and install bespoke fitness and leisure solutions for a high-end market.

Established in 2000 they have fitted over 320 health and fitness facilities around the world, they work closely with major architects, designers, developers and equipment manufacturers.

The challenge

They needed a field service management platform that could help them schedule jobs more effectively.

They required a software partner that matches their business, allowing their field teams to better organise their day, complete more maintenance jobs and more efficiently use their time.

The answer

Klipboard's mobile field service platform empowered their team to meet the challenges of completing a busy schedule of services for their clients and spread their resources more effectively.

Our workflow and form builder helps them complete inspections quickly and record information on site without the need to re-enter data back in the office.

Klipboard enables Motive8 to effectively run our customer maintenance processes with ease, whilst providing our customer with a professional automated report on the work completed. It is extremely easy to use and has already had a dramatic effect on the efficiency of our business.”

Rob Clarke, Operations Manager, Motive8

The results

With the support of Klipboard, Motive8 run their maintenance and inspection processes with ease. Their team immediately adopted the platform and they've seen a positive effect on the number of jobs they can complete.

One of the biggest benefits they've seen is the positive experience for their clients, as they receive a professional and detailed automated report, completed using Klipboard on every job.
